

RUSSIAN QUESTION OUT OF WAY, PEACE CONFERENCE NOW TAKES UP NATIONS' LEAGUE

Will Give It Undivided Attention During Wilson's Stay in Europe.

PEACE BY JUNE, FORECAST

Latest Information Indicates Signing Treaty by That Time, Paris Editor Says; Russian Envoys to Meet With Representatives of Entente.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—With replies from the various Russian factions to its proposal for a conference being awaited, the supreme council of the peace conference met at 10:30 o'clock today. Meanwhile the joint allied commission is being made up, although no names have been announced. All the members of the council were present when the meeting began.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—The preliminary peace will be signed early in June, at the latest, according to the most trustworthy information, says Marcel Hutin in the Echo de Paris today.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—Having disposed of the Russian question for the moment, the supreme council of the peace conference turned today to the principal object of its work, the establishment of a league of nations. This question promises to command virtually the undivided attention of the delegates until their action regarding Russia shows results one way or another. As the Russian delegates are not expected at Prince's Island until February 15 this means that nearly the whole attention of the congress will be turned to the league of nations until President Wilson's departure for America.

Mr. Wilson will go ahead with his announced purpose of devoting all his energies to the reducing of various views on the league of nations to a basis of agreement while awaiting results from the effort to compose the differences between Russian factions. He intends to adhere to his determination to hold all other plans secondary, including his visit to Brussels and his trip to the battlefields and devastated regions.

It is now definitely settled that a large number of American troops will go to America with President Wilson on the liner George Washington.

PARIS, Wednesday, Jan. 22.—The presidents of the United States and Switzerland will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. President Ador, who arrived here from Bern today, will, before he meets President Wilson, confer with President Poincaré, Premier Clemenceau and possibly Premier Lloyd George. He comes to Paris bearing an official statement of the views of the Swiss government on pending international questions which will be laid before the peace congress.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—Led by President Wilson, the supreme council of the great powers yesterday moved to unite the factions of distracted Russia, and bring them into the peace congress. They unanimously adopted a proposition brought forward by President Wilson, asking all the Russian factions, including the Bolsheviks, to meet the Allied and associated governments at Princes Islands, in the Sea of Marmora, on February 15, the contending factions meantime declaring a truce and suspending all military operations.

GREAT GLASS WASTE

Stone Throwers Smash 2,000 Panes of Glass; Scattered in Factories.

SCOTSDALE, Jan. 22.—During the time that the plant to be operated by the Sherman-Stratton Tire & Rubber company was idle, about two years, practically every pane of glass in the factory was broken, principally by persons throwing stones. The company is now asking for bids for 2,000 panes, in a classified advertisement in The Courier today, to replace the loss.

The tire company, it was said at the offices, plans to be in operation by April 1. Preparations are under way to install machinery. It is said there are enough orders in prospect to guarantee a steady run of a year without any further bookings.

FUNERAL OF CLYDE FOLTZ LARGEST IN DUNBAR'S HISTORY

Great Throng Gathers for Last Rites for Man Who Gave Up Life in Attempt to Rescue Others.

The largest funeral service ever held in Dunbar was that of William Clyde Foltz, a victim of the mine disaster at Mount Braddock, held yesterday afternoon from the Methodist Protestant church.

Short services were held at the home of the deceased at 1:30 o'clock. A quartet composed of F. J. McFarland, D. C. Eason, H. W. Williams and A. J. Duncan, sang.

The funeral cortege, headed by the Dunbar council of the Jr. O. U. A. M., then moved to the church where public services were held. Rev. Theodore Darnell, assisted by Rev. D. E. Miner, officiated.

Interment was made in the Mount Auburn cemetery where the Jr. O. U. A. M. conducted their funeral rites. Members of the Jr. O. U. A. M. acted as pallbearers and flower bearers. The pallbearers were Charles Hair, Ray Campbell, James Balfes, William Brown, Grant Blackwell and James Martin.

Floral tributes were many the room in which the body lay being completely banked with flowers. Many out of town friends were present for the services.

The funeral of Samuel Hardy, companion of Foltz in the effort to save entrapped men at Mount Braddock, is being held this afternoon.

FAYETTE COUNTIANS IN LEGISLATURE ARE ON MANY COMMITTEES

Senator Crow Becomes Senate Leader; Representative Kooser Honored; Early Ratification in Sight.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 23.—Fayette county representatives in the General Assembly have fared well in the distribution of committee memberships. Senator W. E. Crow, the successor of Governor Sprunt as leader of the Senate, has been made chairman of the Finance committee, the most important committee in the senate. Only slightly less important is the chairmanship of the committee on executive nominations, another honor conferred upon Senator Crow.

In addition he is given a place on each of the following committees: Appropriations, congressional apportionment, corporations, elections, judiciary, general, mines and mining and public roads and highways.

Representative E. R. Kooser of Connellsville is honored with rather more committee memberships than ordinarily comes to a new member, having been assigned to the following: Electric railways, education, military and insurance.

Representative McIntyre of Uniontown is given a place on elections, labor and industry, bureau of statistics and counties and townships.

Representative Duncan of Brownsville is named on appropriations and congressional apportionment and public buildings committees.

Representative J. B. Goldsmith of Mount Pleasant is made a member of the iron and coal, railroads, forestry and public buildings committee.

The ratification bill, introduced by Representative John W. Vickerman of Allegheny county, leader of the dry forces in the House, will go to the law and order committee, which was organized yesterday, which announced that it had decided to expedite the legislation. It is understood that the bill will be made the subject of a special order of business in the House on next Monday or Tuesday, and it is expected the bill probably will be reported out favorably the following day. It then can be read the first time that day, the second time the following day and third time given a final action on Monday night, February 3, or Tuesday morning, February 4. If thus passed by the House, the bill would go to the Senate, where it would be necessary to have it read three times before it could finally be considered.

LEGALITY CONTESTED

Stockholder Questions Status of New Northern Director.

Legality of the election of Ross S. Matthews as a director of the Northern Connellsville Coke company is questioned in a petition presented to the court yesterday by S. A. Carson and M. D. Plannigan, minority stockholders, asking for permission to examine the corporation's books. A rule was granted upon F. E. Markell, controlling director, directing him to show cause why the petitioners should not be permitted to examine the records of the company.

The stockholders' meeting resulted in the election of F. E. Markell, Ross S. Matthews and J. Lawrence Schick, directors. The right of Mr. Matthews to be present at the meeting was raised, the petition sets forth, but that the complainants were told that he was a stockholder of record. Following the meeting, Mr. Plannigan declares, he demanded the right as a stockholder to examine the corporation's books and that this was refused. The rule is returnable February 1.

PARENTS ARE RELIEVED

First Word Since Given Over in July Comes From Wooddale Soldier.

The first news from Private Samuel A. Wittrout of Company A, 17th Machine Gun Battalion, since he sailed for overseas in early July, came to the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adam A. Wittrout of Wooddale yesterday. It was a letter from Private Wittrout saying he was well, had enjoyed a fine Christmas dinner and hoped soon to be home. The last previous letter received was written July 8 at Camp Mills, New York.

In the absence of news from their son, Mr. and Mrs. Wittrout had come to the conclusion that he must have fallen in battle. The letter does not tell whether he had been to the front or not. Private Wittrout was sent by Local Board No. 2, Connellsville, to Fort Thomas, Ky.

REPLACEMENT MEN OF 28TH DIVISION WERE MURDERED

Declares Returning Officer, Sustaining Charges of Senator Penrose.

NEVER HAD FIRED A RIFLE

Before They Were Rushed Into Action Against the Seasoned German Veterans in the Great Battle of Argonne Forest; Exposure of Blunders Likely

The Pittsburgh Dispatch publishes today an interview with Lieutenant Colonel Bertram L. Sucoop, who served all through the heavy fighting in which the 11th Infantry and other units of the 28th Division engaged last summer, in which he declares that the replacement men, sent to fill up the thinning ranks of the division, were without sufficient training; had never been taught the use of the rifle and were simply murdered because of their inability to take care of themselves. Colonel Sucoop is quoted as saying:

"Senator Penrose is right. Men were sent into the fight at Argonne forest who had never fired a rifle in their lives. It was simply murder to send them in. I don't know who was responsible; whoever had charge of the replacements."

"We had many men sent us who had been inducted into the army by the draft but a few days when they were shipped overseas," said Colonel Sucoop. "Most of them had been drilled more or less at a camp, but many of them had never been on the rifle range and had never fired a rifle. As far as we found this class of men we put them at other work and did not send them to the front."

"But replacements to the Twenty-eighth Division came from all over the country. They were the young fellows, but they had been rushed across the sea with little preliminary training and many of them—with absolutely no training with a rifle as far as shooting goes. Someone is responsible for that. Someone did not want to break up that division by putting men in there who had been in the service on the other side for several months and had had experience. So they sent these green boys into the fight at Argonne forest, St. Mihiel and others of the big fights."

"What do you think of that practice?"

"I think it was murder. It could be called nothing else to send a boy in there who had never fired a rifle, who knew little of his mechanism. He was going up against old line, seasoned troops. It was this plan of sending green men in as replacements which cost us so many officers and non-commissioned men. A captain, lieutenant, sergeant or corporal had to stay with the boys who were green. His training and seasoned men could go ahead and take care of themselves in a measure. But the officer had to stay with his green men and direct and lead them all the way. It was an easy matter for German sharpshooters to pick out the man who seemed to be boss and that is why we had such a heavy loss of officers."

Exposure of the management of the army in France is expected within a few days. Returned National Guard army officers are to meet in Pittsburgh within a few days and open up this subject despite orders or wishes from army headquarters. What may be told after this organization is effected, it is said, will create a sensation.

OFFICER EXONERATED

No Blame Attached to Constable for Death of Jesse Fowler.

At the coroner's inquest into the death of Jesse Fowler of West Brownsville, held at that place last night, Constable Thomas Dickinson was exonerated from all blame.

The shooting occurred last Wednesday night when Constable Dickinson was fired on by Fowler when attempting to arrest him for holding up and robbing Richard Dryden. In returning Fowler's fire, the constable shot him in the head. Two bullets were found in Fowler's head. One was an old lead one. He received it when accidentally shot in his youth. The shot partly paralyzed his left side from which he never entirely recovered.

GOD NEVER WANTED KINGS; THE PEOPLE WERE RESPONSIBLE

Rev. G. W. Buckner, at Christian Church, Declares the Almighty Simply Guided Israelites.

The attendance at the Christian church revival was up to the standard last night and the enthusiasm was a great deal higher than ever before. The singing in these meetings, accompanied by piano, pipe organ and xylophone, is excellent. Mr. and Mrs. Boyer beautifully sang "It Pays to Serve Jesus," and Mr. Boyer played another of his popular xylophone solos. The "booster" chorus added to the musical program with a pretty selection, "Rose, Rose, Rose."

"The pastor, Rev. G. W. Buckner, told in his sermon about the appointment of David as King. Among other things he said:

"Man's thoughts and ways are not God's thoughts and ways. In the first place God never wanted nor expected to have kings, but he knows and sees what is in the hearts of people and often times leads them in a decision. Abraham Lincoln once said: 'You can fool all the people part of the time, part of the people all of the time, but you can't fool all the people all the time.' And God was not to be fooled in this new king. He caused seven men to be passed upon before a choice was made because, in the words of the text, 'Man looketh on the outward appearance, but God looketh on the heart.'"

"Two responded to the gospel invitation. A union prayer meeting is in progress at the church this afternoon under the leadership of Mrs. Boyer and there is a fine attendance. Shop meetings were held at the Tri-State candy factory today. The children will meet after school every evening and on Saturday afternoon until the Bible drill has been given one night next week.

The sermon subject tonight is "The Prosperity of the Wicked."

NEWS FROM PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

ON RATES LACKING

Promoters of Fight Against West Penn Rates in Doubt as to What Will Be Done.

Nothing had been heard from the Public Service Commission up to this afternoon in regard to the fight that is being made in Fayette and Westmoreland counties against the proposed increase in rates to go into effect on Monday on the West Penn Railways lines. Several days ago J. C. Higbee, who is conducting the legal fight of the receipt of the petition asking that a date for a hearing be set, and that the West Penn be restrained from putting the rates into effect on the date set.

There has been little activity in the fight lately with the exception of the circulation of the financial petitions. These have been freely signed, those who have them say. Mayor John Duggan this morning said the petitions had not been extensively circulated in this city yet but he didn't anticipate very much trouble in raising $3,000 or $4,000.

Speaking of the rate hearing which the citizens of the two counties asked for, Mayor Duggan said he was surprised that a date had not previously been set. He said he intended going to Uniontown tomorrow to consult Attorney Higbee on the matter.

The mayor said he did not believe the commission intended to stop the West Penn from inaugurating the new zone system on Monday but he thought perhaps the company would have to issue rebate slips until after the hearing had been held.

The West Penn company is going ahead with preparations to put the increase into effect on Monday. Tags have been printed for the freight which is carried by the railways company, higher rates also going into effect for that service on the same day.

HEARING ON PETITION

For Railroad Siding Across Fayette Street Set For January 29.

Hearing on the petition will be at Harrisburg on Wednesday, January 29, beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

City council some time ago voted permission to the company to construct the siding. This will make two tracks across the street at the point.

CONFIDENCE IN COKE TRADE IS REFLECTED BY A FURTHER GAIN IN PRODUCTION LAST WEEK

PREACHER AND SINGER IN UNION REVIVAL IN M. P. CHURCH EXCHANGE

Rev. Grant Pollock Delivers Forceful Sermon While Rev. Robert E. Cairns Leads Song Service.

"God's Remedy for Sin" was the theme of last night's discourse at the union revival service in the Methodist Protestant church. Rev. Grant Pollock, the singer in the meetings, exchanged with Evangelist R. E. Cairns in the service. The largest audience of the week was present and gave reverent attention to the deeply spiritual message. Several persons presented themselves at the altar in response to the call, while many others expressed a desire to lead the Christian life.

Weather permitting there will be another meeting on Brimstone Corner at 7 o'clock tonight. If the weather does not permit there will be a prayer meeting in the Sunday school room for a half hour before the song service.

There will be meetings every night this week, including Saturday night. At 2:30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon there will be a mass meeting for everybody in the Methodist Episcopal church. Mr. and Mrs. Goosman, formerly vaudeville actors, will have charge of the service. They will sing and speak. They have a remarkable story to tell. If necessary an overflow meeting will be held at the same hour in the Methodist Protestant church.

Ten or fifteen persons announced cottage prayer meetings at their homes at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Each person asking for a meeting was to make it his or her business to invite the neighbors to come in for a word of prayer.

LEAVES PEEP FORTH

Flowers Soon Will Be in Bloom at Pechin, Says Correspondent.

PECHIN, Jan. 23.—This is the most unusual January the oldest residents of this vicinity can remember. So balmy has it been that robins have returned and are singing as if the winter was gone and spring at hand. The plants seem also to imbibe the same spirit. Hyacinths are showing several inches of tops preparatory to blooming, snowdrops are peeping up through the grass and will soon be in full bloom, scillas will adorn the beds with their magenta blue in another week of this weather, while the crocus promises to be but little behind them.

A number of plants not considered very hardy, such as peonies, are yet green in the open border and are putting on additional green. Grass in many places is as green as it usually is in May, and all in all winter seems to have surrendered as effectually as the Germans. Several rose bushes at the "Maples" have green leaves on them in the open border, and some of the people are beginning to talk garden making. Nineteen-nineteen has already made a record that will likely remain to reckon by for many years to come.

OLD GLORY HAULED DOWN

Italian Forces Also Keep American Commander Prisoner for Hours.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—According to a report made public here today by the official information bureau of the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, a Serbo-Croatian vessel, the Dinara, flying the American flag and having a navigation license issued by the American Navy commander in the Adriatic, was seized at Jelsa, January 18 by Italian forces who hauled down the American flag and carried off the ship under Italian colors.

In spite of the flag and papers in order the bureau's statement, "the commander of the Italian troops in Jelsa ordered the captain of the vessel to follow him to the military post where he was kept under arrest for three hours."

Increase 20,000 Tons While Coal Output Was 24,000 Tons Heavier.

LIFTING PRICE CONTROL

Now Serves as an Argument for Lower Prices With the Same Convenience That It Earlier Served to Keep Them Going Out of Buyers' Easy Reach.

From The Weekly Courier.

A further gain, this time of 20,000 tons, in the production of coke is a reflection of the attitude of producers toward their confidence in it and rather effectively disposes of the somewhat persistent, but not well-founded, claim that "the bottom has dropped out."

That the approaching suspension of price control was being seized upon as a certain precursor of a decided drop in price, has been manifest for some time notwithstanding the furnace and other coke consuming and handling interests along in December, were very vigorous in their representations to the Fuel Administration that removal of price restrictions would make the sky the limit of price for coke. The fact that production was then much reduced, and barely equal to current needs, formed the basis of the argument for a continuation of the fixed price limit. Largely because of these urgent pleas the decision was reached in Washington to continue the government established prices until a period to be specified by a notice of two weeks preceding the date of termination.

The notice having been given that fixed prices and zone restrictions will be suspended, effective February 1, now serves the convenient purpose of an argument that prices must, in consequence, drop to a low level. While the slowing down of iron production and the blowing of furnaces for repairs is being practiced on a limited scale, the fact remains that once production is being absorbed on contract practically as rapidly as produced. Some of the smaller operators are without immediate demand, it is true, but there is no surplus in the sense that the yards are filled with stock or that the coke piles at furnaces are growing at an abnormal rate. Prices have been shaded on small quantities of coke, which does not conform to standard specifications, but the brands established in the trade remain firm at the government limit.

It is in this respect that the coke trade differs at this time from the coal trade. Production gained 31,000,000 tons during the year and at its close it was estimated that the coal supply on hand, with a considerable tonnage in transit. There has been no surplus production of coke and there is no accumulation, hence the operators contend that conditions precedent to a material reduction in price do not exist and they are holding firm for the government limit.

There is before the coke trade the prospect of leading men in the iron and steel business, and the reasonable certainty as well that the present bill in the iron and steel markets, which affords an opportunity for much needed repairs, will be followed in the early spring by a revival that will very probably make a very active demand upon coke production and to a proportionate extent also upon coal. Meantime the transition from a war to a peace basis supports the belief that a term can be prudently employed by both branches of the melting industry in cutting their garments to suit the cloth.

The estimated production of coke for the week ending Saturday, January 19, was 231,332 tons, contributed by the two districts as follows: Connellsville, 151,529 tons, a gain of 10,070 tons; Lower Connellsville, 139,802 tons, a gain of 8,835 tons, or a total gain of 19,905 tons. By contrast the production was: Furnace, 150,532 tons, a gain of 10,502 tons; merchant, 130,810 tons, a gain of 9,464 tons.

Coal production largely overcame the loss of 2,653 tons during the previous week by converting it into a gain of 24,778 tons. The aggregate of the week's production, with the coke, 231,332 tons, reduced to its coal equivalent, 436,998 tons, was 622,691 tons, a gross gain of 34,727 tons.

The output of the region is thus found to closely approach that of the week ended November 2 last when coke reached 233, 855, coal 216,257, and the aggregate tonnage 657,934 tons respectively.

WORKING HALF TIME

Big Stamp in Coal Production in Somerset Fields.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Jan. 23.—The larger bituminous mines in this territory, including the "Georges" Creek, Upper Potomac and Somerset fields, are working half time or less, while a number of the smaller operators have suspended indefinitely due to the dullness in the coal market.

This is true of practically all the mines in Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Kentucky, according to a local operator, who is well-versed with the facts.

QUITS LAW PRACTICE

Earl T. Chamberlain Becomes Trust Officer for Uniontown Bank.

Announcement was made last evening by officials of the Citizens Title & Trust company, Uniontown, that, commencing April 1, Earl T. Chamberlain, attorney at law and for the last five years one of the stenographers in the Court of Common Pleas, will assume the duties of trust officer for the company.

This was one of the principal questions discussed and settled at the organization of the board Monday night when, in accordance with the action of the stockholders at their recent annual meeting, the board organized with eleven instead of nine directors and elected the following officials: Albert Gaddis, president; H. L. Robinson, first vice president; T. S. Lackey, second vice president; W. C. Black, treasurer; J. H. Korr, secretary; E. T. Chamberlain, trust officer; Lloyd H. Humbert, Jasper G. Cope, Edward McShane, Julia B. Burnham, William Jones and A. C. Allen, tellers.

In laying aside his practice of law and position of official stenographer under Judge E. H. Reppert, Mr. Chamberlain does not sever his membership in the Fayette County Bar association, of which he is secretary, as he will no longer practice in the Orphan's court to some extent in connection with various trust funds and estates administered by the trust company, where other attorneys are not interested.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is tedious. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant—Adv.

Drive the Liquor Habit From Your Home

Can Be Done Secretly

Physicians and druggists unhesitatingly recommend Tescum powders for the liquor habit in any form. They quickly destroy the craving and make whiskey and other alcoholic beverages repugnant. Druggists will tell you Tescum is selling better than any other remedy for the liquor habit. There is a reason for this. It is because it gives better satisfaction. One physician says: "I can stand in the door of my home and throw a stone into a neighbor's yard to whom I gave Tescum powders for drunkenness and he was completely cured. Have also cured a large number of other patients." A druggist reports: "Tescum is having an enormous sale. It gives excellent satisfaction." A lady recently wrote: "I have used Tescum on my husband secretly and he has not taken a drink in three months." Another lady says: "I only wish I had known of Tescum before." Here is another who tried it: "After taking two boxes of Tescum I did not crave liquor." Another writes: "I don't think it's expensive at all. Just think of the thousands of dollars he has spent for whiskey. The few dollars I spent for Tescum has been worth thousands." Here is an extract from another letter: "I sent a box of Tescum to my friend, Mrs. C. M., for her to try on her husband. Hope she will be as successful as I have been, as it is wonderful. I will never tell my husband what cured him." And so on it goes, one enthusiastic report after another. If you have a relative or a friend who drinks, just try it for a few weeks and note the marvellous change. They will soon complain that drink does not taste the same and in a short time they will stop altogether and never know the reason why.

Note—A leading druggist, when shown the above article, said: "Yes, Tescum is a very remarkable remedy for the drink habit. It is harmless, wonderfully effective and is having an enormous sale. I advise everyone who wishes to destroy the liquor habit to give it a trial." You take no risk with Tescum, as it is sold in this city under a steel-bound money refund guarantee by all druggists, including J. C. Moore—Adv.

Honest Advertising

THIS is a topic we all hear now-a-days because so many people are inclined to exaggerate. Yet has any physician told you that we claimed unreasonable remedial properties for Fletcher's Castoria? Just ask them. We won't answer it ourselves, we know what the answer will be.

That it has all the virtues to-day that was claimed for it in its early days is to be found in its increased use, the recommendation by prominent physicians, and our assurance that its standard will be maintained.

Imitations are to be found in some stores and only because of the Castoria that Mr. Fletcher created. But it is not the genuine Castoria that Mr. Fletcher honestly advertised, honestly placed before the public, and from which he honestly expects to receive his reward.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion caused by hyperacidity, meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflame the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from our pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescent and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.—Adv.

NITRATE AT COST TO FARMERS, PLAN OF GOVERNMENT

Application Must be Made Through the Country Farm Bureau; Deposits at Local Bank Required.

The United States Department of Agriculture will sell at cost a supply of nitrate of soda to farmers in Fayette county. Price this year will be $81 a ton, free on board cars at loading point or port. Farmers are to pay in addition freight to their shipping points.

Applications for the nitrate will be received only from actual farmers or owners or holders of farms for use on their land and must be made through the Fayette County Farm Bureau. No money will be required with the application, but upon notice from the farm bureau, farmers who have signed applications must deposit with a local bank money to cover the cost of the fertilizer. Arrangements have been made to secure a large quantity of nitrate and it is believed all reasonable requirements can be met.

Last year the distribution of nitrate was very unsatisfactory in that most of it arrived at its destination at a very late date. This condition made it rather embarrassing for a number of county agents. However, this year in all probability the federal government will handle the situation much better than it did last year, but nevertheless the farm bureau in accepting applications for nitrate will in no way guarantee that it will arrive at the time stated on the application.

Notice has just been received that applications for nitrate should be in the hands of the Department of Agriculture by January 26, consequently farmers who wish to fill out application blanks should communicate with the farm bureau.

COAL RESERVES

Of South America Increased by More Recent Surveys.

The coal resources of the continent of South America, conservatively estimated at 32,097,000,000 tons in the 1913 survey of the world's coal deposits, are increased to nearly 50,000,000,000 tons in more recent reports of explorers. Much of this, however, cannot be mined.

These estimates are as follows: Colombia, 27,000,000,000 tons; Peru, 79,000,000,000 tons; Chile, 2,082,000,000 tons.

A BATTLE OF FIGURES.

In the decision of the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission, approving the six-cent rate for a street railway in Lancaster, the protestants against the advance in fares on the West Penn railway have a rather plain indication of the character of the defense the company will make. There is also just as plain an indication of the necessity of the protestants to spend a very considerable sum of money and a lot of time and energy in collecting data, or employing expert service, in order to successfully controvert the claims of the company that it must needs have a larger income than the existing rates provide. Failing in this the new zoning arrangement, with its consequent increase in the cost of travel, will very probably be formally approved.

On the Lancaster street railway line there was no rearrangement of zones, the increase being confined to making the zone rate six instead of five cents, just as the West Penn advanced the zone rate last May without formal protest from patrons. The people of Lancaster are differently amused about the raise in the rate and made complaint to the Public Service Commission on the ground that the six-cent rate was "unjust and unreasonable" and also in violation of the conditions and terms of the franchise ordinance.

To support its contention of the justice and reasonableness of the advance the company presented evidence to show that the increased cost of operation and maintenance of its property, "used and useful," made an increase in revenue necessary in order "to provide a fair return to the stockholders."

Evidently the company was able to establish its claims to the satisfaction of the commission, or the complainants were unable to disprove them, the complainants having been dismissed on the ground that in exchange for rendering "the service due the public," the company "has a right to receive a fair return on its property, used and useful."

The decision declared that "the increased fares are not unreasonable," but prescribed the limitation that "if in the future there should be any marked reduction in operating expenses or increase in revenues the company should readjust its rates in conformity with its obligation to the public." If, in such case, the company fails, upon notification, to make readjustment of rates the commission "proposes to make such changes as are warranted."

"All of which," says the Latrobe Bulletin in a discussion of this decision, "would seem to make it clear that in the case of the West Penn the company will bend its whole endeavor to the effort to convince the Public Service Commission that the proposed increase is necessary, in view of the greater cost of operation; while it will be for the protesting public to try to convince the commission that the necessity does not exist. It will be a battle of figures."

The decision in the Lancaster case covers a condition which the West Penn has already been permitted to meet without protest, hence will apply in the appeal now before the Public Service Commission only so far as the principle of requiring necessity for the advance to be shown is involved. This is not a new principle, however, but is one of the fundamentals laid down in the law prescribing the conditions under which public utilities are entitled to confirmation of increases in rates.

The West Penn having been in the same position, when making its recent increases ranging from 50 to 100 per cent, with respect to having augmented its revenue by the 20 per cent advance of last May, that the Lancaster company is now after approval of its 20 per cent increase, the coke region company will be obliged to show that it has been losing heavily on its operation, or be forced to admit that it is not satisfied with a fair return on its property, used and useful.

In the judgment of most patrons of the West Penn it is not conceivable that so large an increase in revenue as is proposed is necessary, but the complainants before the Public Service Commission must be prepared to show the contrary. And it will take some preparation, for, as our Latrobe contemporary observes, "it will be a battle of figures."

What Should the Employer Do for the Disabled Soldier?

Part V
Permanent Employment and Follow-up Work.

This begins at the point when, in the opinion of the board, the probationer has adjusted himself to the requirements of the occupation or pursuit as a workman. The shifting from probationary to permanent employment may be made in either the same or another establishment, and the disabled man has the same freedom of choice and action as any other workman "on his own." Support by the government of the man as a student will cease at the close of the probationary period.

As a beneficiary under the War-Risk Insurance Act, however, he will be entitled to the compensation allotted under that act. In most cases this will be less than the support received from the board under the provisions of the Vocational Rehabilitation Act.

The aim of the board is always to direct the disabled man toward and to provide him with training for an occupation in which he can become as proficient as the normal man. Yet it must not be overlooked that some of the disabled men will not become fully competent to earn the prevailing wage. Therefore, where a disabled man is unable, because of his handicap, to earn the full prevailing wage for his occupation, an adjustment, in accordance with the rules and regulations of the shop, is to be made. Where working agreements are in effect between employers and employees, the regulations thereof shall govern the procedure in adjusting such partial wages. Where there are no such facilities, the adjustment is to be made by conference between the man, his employer, and a representative of the board. It should be fully understood that the disabled man himself, as a free contracting agent, may in every case accept or reject any terms or scale proposed.

The disabled man should, however, receive equal pay for equal work, and under no circumstances will a wage for a disabled man be approved by the board where it appears that decreases have been made because he is receiving a compensation for his injury from the government.

As the official friend and adviser to the disabled man, the board will keep in touch with him, through its representatives, for such period after he enters employment as may be necessary to complete, in each individual case, his re-establishment as a civilian worker. The board will protect him against influence or exploitation by the adjustment of disabilities, and, if need be, by aiding him through further training or assistance to secure other and more desirable employment in the same or another occupation.

To do their part in the program of vocational rehabilitation employers should write at once to the central office of the Federal Vocational Board at Washington, or to the branch office of District No. 3, Union Arcade, Pittsburgh, giving information as to opportunities for employment in their plant, office or on their farm, in order that full cooperation may be had in the great task of retraining our disabled soldiers and sailors.

They are coming now, not only a few, but hundreds of them, with thousands soon to follow.

Just Folks
Edgar A. Guest.

DREAMS.
Some send out their dreams to sea in search of yellow gold.
Some send them in search of fame on explorations bold.
But most of us keep all our dreams within the little space.
Where mother sings her gentle songs and children romp and race.

The sailor dreams of cottages walls, the soldier fights and dies.
That from a little chimney stack the smoke of peace shall rise.
And men are brave and men are true and men do splendid things.
While all the time they seem to hear the song the kettle sings.

Few men there are who toil for gold, and few who toil for fame;
The common dreams of most of us are very much the same:
We toil, when all is said and done, and measure our success
By what it brings into the home of love and happiness.

Our dreams are bound to tender things, to laughter and to play,
To brave farewells and welcomes true with every passing day.
If those at home had pride in us and joy in all we do,
Then we rejoice because we've seen our fondest dream come true.

GOLF SPORT IS DUE FOR BANNER SEASON

Champion Quimet Looks for Busy Time in 1919.

Thinks End of War Will Have Big Effect of Boosting Affairs of Links—Expects to Compete in National Open and Amateur.

Golf is due for its biggest year next season, in the opinion of Francis Quimet, former national titleholder and present Western amateur champion. With all the new faces and the old boys keen to get into the game seriously again, after being more or less shut up for a year, 1919 shapes up to be as the banner year in the history of the royal and ancient game. Quimet can see no prospect of a lull in his busy work, figuring that his branch of the service will be busy for some time to come. He does expect, however, that conditions will be such that he can play a lot of golf next season. In 1918 he played little comparatively speaking, though at the end of the season his game was all he could desire.

The Western champion says he got so, after winning two national events that he hardly cared what happened so far as his game was concerned when the United States Golf association declared him ineligible to compete as an amateur.

Now, however, with peace in the land and his amateur status no longer questioned, he has the fever again. He is eager to get loose and looks forward to playing in the big events of 1919, more especially the national open and amateur, if they are held.

JACK COOMBS MADE MANAGER

Veteran Pitcher Accepts Terms to Lead Philadelphia National League Ball Team.

John W. Coombs, veteran pitcher, who was with the Brooklyn team last season, has accepted terms to manage the Phillies next year. Coombs, it is stated, will receive a salary of $7,000, with a bonus if he succeeds in putting the team to the top of the league race, or to a place among the leaders.

Coombs will be expected to rule the Phillies with more of an iron hand than was wielded by Pat Moran, whom he succeeded. President Baker now admits that the reason that he let Moran go was that the latter did not maintain proper discipline among the players. He also complains that Moran did not reside in Philadelphia in the winter time and even lived outside the city during the summer months.

REVIVE SOCCER IN ENGLAND

Authorities Losing No Time in Re-Establishing Sport—To Start Cup Tie Series.

With the conclusion of the war English soccer authorities are losing no time in re-establishing the league series so popular before the war. It is likely an English cup tie series will be started shortly after the start of the new year. The sport will shortly be resumed in Ireland, Scotland and Wales, where it draws big crowds.

IS NOT STRONG FOR SPORTS

President Schurman of Cornell University Says We Should Give Boys Military Training.

Jacob Schurman, president of Cornell university or something, opposes the idea of Young America going in so strong for sports and says we ought to give the boys military training instead. Well, that's what the Kaiser gave his boys in Germany for 40 years and then when the test came the American baseball and football players and so on made the goose-steppers look like a collection of brewery hands trying to do a hundred-yard dash. What's the answer?

This Please Harvard. Lieut. Robert E. Gross, a hockey and baseball star, has returned to Harvard.

Every Name is Wanted For the Official State Records.

Read the above questions carefully and answer them fully so that honor may be given where honor is due—to the State of Pennsylvania and its gallant defenders. The War History Commission, of the Pennsylvania Council of National Defense, is compiling an official record for historical purposes of the men who, during the great war, entered the military and naval service of the United States or the Allies. Names of men who voluntarily enlisted are, in particular, apt to be missing from the Honor Roll unless furnished by their families or friends. But all names, whether those of men who enlisted or who entered the service by draft, are wanted.

Fill out a War Service Record for your soldier or sailor boy and mail it without delay.

Tris Speaker, Cleveland American league outfielder, and Walter Pipp, New York Americans' first baseman, have obtained their discharges from the navy. Both have been studying for commissions at the naval aviation school at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

INTERESTING SPORT PARAGRAPHS

Harvard university has started preliminary rowing practice.

Santa Clara university is the latest to take up the soccer football game.

Brooklyn schoolboys will play hockey, eight schools entering teams.

Fred Mitchell wants the majors to make a rule abolishing an out on a foul fly.

If the Athletics don't go on a spring training trip it isn't likely the Phillies will either.

Willie Walker, once one of our fence-busting gardeners, has joined the re-training club.

Manager Mack of the Athletics has given Obfelder, Olding his unconditional release.

Eleven sectional associations are a part of the United States National Lawn Tennis association.

The franchisees of the Washington and St. Louis clubs haven't been transferred in several days now.

Branch Ricker of the Cards, who went to France as a major, is recovering from an attack of pneumonia.

The Cubs of next season promise to look about as they did in the late campaign, plus Alexander. That will make them look even better.

Branch Ricker will probably drop his job as president of the Cards to become manager next season. Hendricks is slated to get the gate.

Jimmy Wilde and Pat Moore probably will meet in a 20-round bout in London in March. Promoters would guarantee both boxers big sums.

Looks as if the fans won't have to wear overcoats when they go to any games next season, now that everything is set to cut the schedules.

Sunday baseball will probably be made legal in New York state at the coming session of the legislature. Governor-elect Smith favors the plan.

Billy Maher of Erie, Pa., who fought such lightweights as Bat Nelson and Ad Wolgast, has returned from France wearing three wound stripes.

SEVEN GOLF GOLDEN RULES

Harry Vardon Outlines Regulations Intended to Assist in Playing Ancient Game.

The seven golden rules of the golf drive, as prescribed by Harry Vardon, are as follows:

1. Keep the head steady and do not let the left heel turn outward, then the body can only wind up when the arms go back.

2. Grip firmest with the thumbs and forefingers—they are not so well adapted as the other fingers to the purpose of taking a strong hold, and they are the most important of all for the purpose of the golf grip.

3. Let the club head lead, the left wrist turning inward, the arms following the club head and the right hip screwing next.

4. Don't throw the arms forward as you start to come down as though you were moving grass. Rather throw them back, and let them come around in their own way from that point.

5. Let the movement of the right shoulder be steady and rhythmic; it should have nothing in the nature of a sudden drop or jerk.

6. Don't be afraid to hit hard, if you are swinging correctly, hard hitting is not "preseason."

7. Keep your head still until the club has struck the ball.

Oh! "What caused the trouble between Fawcett and Kidder? I thought they were such good friends." "They were till Kidder went visiting and sent back a postcard with 'With You Were Here' on it."

"Well, that's terribly old stuff, but it shouldn't destroy friendship."

"Not ordinarily, but there was a picture of a fall on the postcard."

RELATION OF ACCIDENTS

To Increased Production to Be Subject of a Special Labor Inquiry.

A special inquiry is being made by the State Department of Labor and Industry into the relation of accidents and the increased production in iron and steel plants in Pennsylvania, due to the demand for munitions the last two years. Figures are just beginning to be available which show the tonnage in Western Pennsylvania plants to have been immense.

The data is to be issued in the form of a special report during the coming spring. It will follow the lines of former inquiries about accidents, but be more extensive and is expected to be a valuable contribution to the story of Pennsylvania's war activities.

THE THIRTEENTH COMMANDMENT.

BY RUPERT HUGHES

"I'd like to have you. All right, Mr. try."

He pressed a button on his desk, then twice. The office boy appeared, followed by the stenographer. Reben said to the boy: "Is Mr. Batterson here? Send him to me." To the stenographer he said: "Fill out a contract for Miss Kip—Miss—What's her first name? Miss Daphne Kip, salary, twenty-five. Make it a three-year contract."

Reben motioned her absently to her chair and said, rather for Daphne's sake than for hers, she felt: "Sit down, won't you, till the contract comes? and pardon me if I—"

He finished the phrase by the deed. The office routine went on and Daphne might have been the chair she sat in, for all the attention he paid her. She felt rather ungraciously ignored. Still, she had asked to be treated on a business basis. He was taking her at her word.

Before the contract was ready Mr. Batterson appeared. He was one of Reben's stage managers, a worried, emotional little man, worn to shreds with his task of stimulating and correcting the emotions by which others earned their wages and fame.

Reben introduced him to Daphne and explained her new office. Batterson seemed none too well pleased with the news that Daphne was ignorant of stage work to the last degree. He had found it hard enough to make the experienced actors read their lines as they must be read and keep a reading them so. To teach this dramatic infant how to walk and talk was an unenviable labor.

He took Daphne into his office and pulled out a set of parts. When she stumbled over them he cast his eyes heavenward in his swift impatience. He explained them with a vinegary gentleness. He talked to her of the canons of interpretation. He walked through her scenes and spoke her lines for her again and again and yet again. But somehow she could not teach her.

He tried everything but beating her. He battered her, wheeled her, porpoised, satirized, rebuked her, and occasionally he cursed her. She did not rebel even against his profligacy, because she had no confidence in herself to support her resistance. She felt that she was far worse than he said she was when he said she was worst. She used all her funds of resolution in keeping from throwing down the part and running away in tears. She had none left for asserting her right to politeness.

Once Daphne was out in the street again and released from the ordeal of pleasing Batterson, youth and ambition brought hope back again. Broadway at twilight was abuzz with enthusiasm and she caught zest from the crowds. She was going home to study, carrying her little set of textbooks like a schoolgirl. But she felt the wings of conquest flapping at her ankles or the wheel of fortune spinning under her toes.

Her very first effort had succeeded. She was a woman with a salary. She would be no longer a parasite on any man. She had a career and a business as well as the best of them.

Her mother was at home alone. Lella had gone for that tea party to another to which Mrs. Kip was not invited. Daphne's mother greeted her with relief. She told her news with a rush of enthusiasm. It left Mrs. Kip cold, very cold.

She was a pious, church-going woman. Mrs. Kip. She had always looked upon the theater as a training school for the still lower regions. She went to plays occasionally, but usually with a feeling of dissipation and worldliness. Besides it was one thing to see plays and another to act them.

Daphne tried to reason her mother out of her backwoods prejudices, but she only frightened her the more. Mrs. Kip retired to her room to write an urgent telegram to her husband demanding that he come on at once and rescue his child. She always called on him in an emergency and he always responded.

Lella came home eventually full of gossip and triumph. Her Duffin gown had made a tremendous success; the other women wanted to murder her. Mrs. Kip broke in on her chronicles with the dismal announcement of Daphne's new insanity. Lella was almost as bitter in opposition as Mrs. Kip had been, but from quite another motive. Lella had aristocratic impulses and looked forward to social splendor. She would gladly do help from the fact that her husband's sister was a theatrical stranger.

Daphne escaped an eddious battle with her by referring to the news of close study, and retreated into her own room, locking her mother out.

She stayed there, repeating her lines over and over and trying to remember the action that went with them as Miss Kemble had played it. She had a quick memory, but the intonation of the lines gave her extraordinary difficulty.

She remembered one of Miss Kemble's most delicious effects. She came on the stage unannounced and, pausing in the doorway, smiled whimsically and said, "How do you do?" That was all—just "How do you do?" But she uttered it so deliciously that a ripple of joy ran through the audience. Lella tried to master the trick of it, but with no success. She said "How do you do?" in dozens of ways, with no result except to render the phrases meaningless gibberish.

Daphne knew from the past she was studying and flung away ambition, and went out to tell the family that she agreed with them.

She was confronted by Lella in a role of despair. Bayard had telephoned that he could not get home for dinner. He would not be home in time to take Lella to the theater as he had promised.

Lella was in a frenzy. She had nothing to do but wait for her man to come and take her somewhere. Daphne understood the tragedy of the modern wife: dowered with freedom, pampered with amusements, deprived of the blessing of toll, unaccustomed to seraglio torpor, she must yet wait on the whims or necessities of her husband.

Daphne reconsidered her decision. Better all the difficulties and heartaches of the actress-trade than this prison lodging of wifely existence. She had something to do.

CHAPTER X.

The next day Batterson telephoned her that he had called a rehearsal with the company. Daphne went to the theater in terror. The stage looked utterly foreign with the actors and actresses standing about in their street clothes. Under the bright lights with the people made up and the audience in full bloom, like a vast garden, there would be impersonality and stimulation; but the present scene was as dolorous as the funeral of an unpopular man.

Courage was largely a matter of her supposing forcing her reluctant feet forward. A soldier ordered to leave a bombproof shelter for an advance, a playground of shrapnel, has just the struggle with his vaso-motor system that Daphne had with hers.

With the kindest smile an amiable wolf eye wove Batterson invited the daily and murmured: "So our little business woman is going to open the shop. Well, all you've got to do is to deliver the goods and I'll buy 'em at your own price."

Batterson rapped on the kitchen table that stood on the apron of the stage under a naked bunch of light of glaring brilliance.

"Places, please, for the entrance. Ready? All right, Eidon!"

The noble matinee idol put his hat on the table, walked on, sat down on a divan composed of two broken chairs and read an imaginary newspaper.

Batterson said: "Doorbell! Buzz-z-z!"

A well-dressed young man, whom Daphne recognized as the elderly butler, walked across and opened an imaginary door between two chairs. This was the cue for Miss Kemble's famous "How do you do?"

Everybody waited and watched for the newcomer to make her debut in the new world. Then was a silence. Daphne stood with heels screwed to the floor and tongue glued to the roof of her mouth.

"All right, Miss Kip," said Batterson with ominous patience. "Come on, come on, please!"

Another silence, then Daphne laughed and choked. "I'm awfully stupid. I've forgotten the line."

Batterson gasped his unlighted cigar and growled: "Howjado! Howjado!"

"Oh, yes! Thank you. I'm so sorry!" said Daphne, and walked on at the wrong side of the chairs.

Everybody shuddered to realize that she had entered through a solid wall. This miracle was ignored, but there was no ignoring the peculiarly inequent note she struck when she bowed to the butler and stamped:

"How are you?"

A sigh went through the vast profound and void of the empty theater. Instant told even the echoes that Daphne did not belong and never could belong. Batterson growled, tragically.

"Not to the butler, please! Don't say 'How are you?' to the butler. Don't say 'How are you?' to anybody, please. Script says 'Howjado?' Say 'Howjado?' to Mr. Eidon there. Say 'Howjado?' to Mr. Eidon there."

"How do you do?" said Daphne, bowing to Eidon and speaking with a soulfulness of a squeezed doll.

Eidon rose, folded up his imaginary paper, and came forward with a pitying desire to help her. He hoped that the scared little Kip woman would win through the same bitter trials to the same perils and always endangered success. But he had a fear.

He delivered her his line with benevolent gentleness. He waited, then gave her her line with exquisite tact. She did not repeat it after him. He said to her:

"Don't be afraid; you're all right."

He gave her the line again and she parroted it after him. She leaped then to a speech several minutes further on. He drew her back to the cue:

"Pardon me, but I think I have a line before that."

The rehearsal blundered on. It was not Daphne's fault that disturbed the rest. It was her complete failure to suggest the character, or any character.

Pyrex is so desirable, because it wonderfully improves the quality of the food. Every housewife who has ever used Pyrex is enthusiastic over it. Being transparent you can actually see the progress of cooking, so you do not have to guess when an article is done—you can see with your own eyes.

To buy a set of Pyrex costs a pretty penny, because quality always costs more than inferior goods. Therefore, in offering genuine Pyrex as a premium, we are following the half-century old Dilworth Policy of maintaining quality in whatever we do.

What the Dilworth Roasting Process Is

First, the coffee beans are systematically forced through a sheet of flame which, in effect, really toasts them evenly and inside within the bean the natural flavor which remains there until the coffee is served fragrant and flavorful on your table. Second, the coffee is cooled by the Dilworth dry process, which insures your getting about one-sixth more coffee for your money, than if cooled by the customary wet process, whereby the coffee must absorb a part of the water.

The Pneumonia of INFLUENZA

Deadly Pneumonia Often Follows
Common Chest Colds.

This pneumonia, while apparently very severe, may disappear in a night under proper treatment, and the best way for a person afflicted with influenza to avoid pneumonia is to go to bed at once and stay there until the physician permits you to get up. While in bed the back, throat, and chest should be liberally covered with Forner's and flannel applied to insure the necessary heat for the absorption. Allow a little to melt in your mouth three or four times daily. It soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and permits the easy expulsion of phlegm.

IMPORTANT!—In some districts the demand for Forner's has been so heavy that there is a temporary shortage.
The public are warned against accepting substitutes and to insist on Forner's, as all wholesalers are supplied and your druggist, if he is sold out, can get it on short notice.

HOW WEAK, NERVOUS WOMEN QUICKLY GAIN VIGOROUS HEALTH AND STRONG NERVES

7 A DAY FOR 7 DAYS

A Vigorous, Healthy Body,
Sparkling Eyes and Health-Colored
Cheeks Come in Two Weeks, Says
Discoverer of Bio-feren.
World's Grandest Health Builder
Costs Nothing Unless It Gives to Women the Buoyant Health They Long For.

It is safe to say that right here in this big city are tens of thousands of weak, nervous, run-down, depressed women who in two weeks' time could make themselves so healthy, so attractive and so admired of all their friends.

The vital health building elements that these dependent women lack are all plentifully supplied by Bio-feren.

If you are ambitious, crave success in life, want to have a healthy, vigorous body, clear skin and eyes that show no dullness, make up your mind to get a package of Bio-feren right away.

If costs but little and you can get an original package at any druggist anywhere.

Take two tablets after each meal and one at bedtime—seven a day for seven days—then one after meals till all are gone. Then if you don't feel twice as good, look twice as attractive and feel twice as strong as before you started your money is waiting for you. It belongs to you, for the discoverer of Bio-feren doesn't want one penny of it unless it fulfills all claims.

Note to Physicians: There is no secret about the formula of Bio-feren.
It is printed on every package. Here it is: Lactin; Calcium Glycero-phosphate; Iron Pyrophosphate; Manganese Pep-tonate; Ext. Nux Vomica; Powder Benzoic; Phenolphthalein; Oleoresin Capsicum; Epsom.
